

News Release Model

MC Hammer Restoration & Cleaning, Inc., is hosting owners, production, sales and administrative employees of 16 restoration and cleaning companies at a Business Networks meeting in Eugene today.

Business Networks brings businesses together to analyze problems and propose solutions. Members are partnered with non-competing remodeling or insurance restoration business owners from different regions of the United States and Canada.

Together members observe and evaluate each company. As the host of this upcoming meeting MC Hammer Restoration will have their business reviewed by a group of their peers in a confidential setting.

Koby Brian, president of MC Hammer will chair the production meeting, which starts on today. On Thursday, Gene Peterson of Riverton, Utah, will facilitate the Business Networks meeting.

Fill this in for your company ----this is what another member used here:

Over the past 25 years, MC Hammer has built a team of local experts trained to offer world-class solutions in specialty cleaning and restoration in Oregon. Their commitment when they started the company in 1987 was to provide residential and commercial clients with a single-source solution for specialty cleaning and restoration. They build upon this promise by continuing to add quality services that meet the growing needs of communities and customers.

The four-day meeting is at Red Lion Resort, and 55 members and their employees are expected to attend.

For more information visit MC Hammer's Website at www.mchammer.com or contact Koby Brian Gilman at 800-525-3456 or koby@ aol.com.